St. Clair High SCHOOL

ETTING

They say to get involved so you can leave high school behind without any regrets.

With the many opportunities to get to know other people and to get to know oneself offered, how could any student find themselves looking back with any sort of remorse clouding their treasured memories on graduation day? Maybe that's why they say high school is the best time of your life. So do what they say.

Make the most of it. Have no regrets.

ETTING OGETHER

Shakespeare once wrote that the whole world is a stage and that we are all merely players in it. And on the stage of S.C.H.S., there are many different roles to be filled from the carefree senior leaders on one end and the meek freshmen on the other end. Everyday is the end of one scene and the beginning of another. These are the "days of our lives."

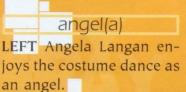

Stephanie Schmitt.

beamin' ABOVE Freshmen Andrea Ugorowski and Caisey Herrera hope to catch a ride to the homecoming dance.

FOCUSED 1

Getting up every morning at sunrise to go to school takes a lot of dedication, but the students of S.C.H.S. pull it every day. Afterall, education isn't limited to the classroom for the students at S.C.H.S. It's a part of every day, from learning leadership from Student Council to humbleness from N.H.S. to business savvy from B.P.O.A., and yes, even from waking up in the morning.

They represent the sweat and tears every athlete puts in as they strain their muscles and their minds to be molded into well oiled machines. They are colors of pride.

"I will e-mail an outside contact using my watch. This contact will then call the school to page the teacher. While the teacher is out of the room I will use his computer to hack into the FBI mainframe and issue orders to air drop equipment outside the window. I'll quickly climb out the window and get the gear. Using the super sticky glue from the giant crate they dropped off, I'll coat the teacher's chair. When the teacher comes back and sits down he will instantly stick to the chair. Then I will make a mad dash for the spaceship waiting outside, and the teacher won't be able to stop me.

Jacob,

When you were just a bundle, all snugly, soft, and warm, we knew a brand new love as we held you in our arms. You were up and running from your first step as a tot, then off to school, but everyday we held you in our thoughts. Soon you had your own life- your friends and fun and cares. We worried, watched, waited up and held you in our prayers. Though you're all grown up now, we'll never grow apart. Whatever you do, whereever you go, we'll hold you in our hearts.

Love always, Mom, Dad, and Ashley

The Value of a Smile

It costs nothing, but creates much.

It enriches those who recieve without impoverishing those who give.

It happens in a flash, and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

None are so rich they can get along without it, and none so poor but are richer for its benefits.

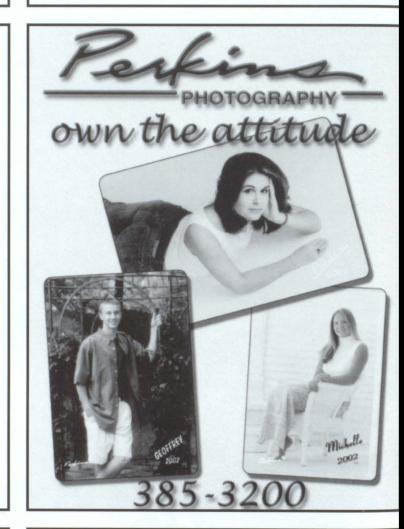

It creates happiness in the home, fosters goodwill in a business, and is the countersign of friends.

It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to anyone until it is given away.

ve Garried AWAY the 2002 yearbook staff

Stranded on a desolate, one-way road was this yearbook. The organization was lost and dry of fuel, stopped by low sales, inefficient organization, and ancient technology. Coming to the aide of the desperate yearbook was Mrs. Distelrath. She was the fuel the organization thirst for. Devoting her priceless time, effort, and energy, it was jumpstarted. After turning off the oneway road, it was reorganized and rebuilt. The staff was retrained and focused onto new goals. Suddenly, yearbook was back on the road to success, traveling at accelerating speeds, paused only by random red lights. While heading on the newly mapped course, I was able to come aboard. Piloting the organization together, we were an unstoppable team. Soon we entered the freeway, working smarter, weaving through problems, having many exits, and moving at an even higher rate of speed. We stayed within the lines, for the most part. On this freeway, the yearbook has the newest technology, used by an organized, well- trained, and competent staff. The sign reads 2002; it's our exit. We are leaving satisfied, knowing the yearbook is still traveling on the freeway to one final destination: the horizon. Let the ride carry you away. We did.
